COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

As Mrs. Douglas so aptly said at the alumni reception last night, "It's on and off and on and on and on." Another class which stepped on the stage of college activity four years ago is off and still it's on and on and on. Men may come and men may go, but college commencement goes on forever.

The exercises of the past week have been successful throughout, unusually so in some instances, and mark a fitting finale to a year of hard, earnest work.

PUBLIC MEETING OF THE CRESCENT SOCIETY.

The first event of the Commencement week, was the public meeting of the Crescent Literary Society, given on Saturday evening. The College chapel was well filled by an attentive audience. The program was not an elaborate affair, but was a typical one, and this being the last meeting in the term, the public was given a special invitation to be present.

Each number on the program was well prepared and well given. In this its last meeting the Crescent is to be congratulated on the very creditable showing made.

The program was as follows:

Instrumental Solo.....	Elsie Mackey
Recitation.....	Mabel Newby
Original Story.....	Marie Hanson
Reading.....	Walter Miles
Oration.....	Ralph W. Rees
Original Poem.....	Cecil J. Hoskins
German Oration.....	Lewis L. Saunders
Recitation.....	Lillian Nicholason
Dialogue.....

BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY.

A vast audience filled the Friends church Sunday morning to hear the Baccalaureate sermon, which was preached by President H. E. McGrew. Other churches co-operated heartily in the exercises as usual, the pastors dismissing their congregations and taking their places on the platform with the speaker of the morning.

"Blessings a responsibility for service" was the theme of the eloquent discourse. With master hand the wonders and beneficence of creation were pictured with the thought throughout that all is here for man's blessing. Not alone for his material welfare however, but more for the rounding out and perfection of man's highest being, the spiritual. And finally as a telling climax, Pres. McGrew portrayed the scene of Calvary and its full significance, as the great and final sacrifice made for man's redemption and salvation. All these wonders of beneficence bring tremendous responsibility for service, and the speaker exhorted the young people before him to take Van Dyke's beautiful story of "The Other Wise Man" as an inspiration and to make self-sacrificing service their one aim in life wherever and however situated.

A special feature was made of the music for the morning. Prof. Kantner and Miss Mabel Gardner played on organ and piano the opening voluntary. A beautiful solo was sung impressively by Miss Mabel Edwards. Prof. Kantner and W. C. Woodward rendered the vocal duett, "Hope Beyond," while the services closed with the rendering by the large choir of the hallelujah chorus from Handel's "Messiah."

A large audience again gathered in the evening to hear the address to the Christian Associations. Walter Miles and Miss Myrtle Gause, presidents of the respective associations presided. Rev. H. T. Cash preached the sermon, the text for an earnest appeal being taken from Paul's words, "I am debtor." The thought was a continuation and an amplification of that of the morning. With all the educational and cultural advantages which have been thrown about his hearers, Rev. Cash plead with them to acknowledge the debt to humanity resulting, and to pay it with a life of activity and helpfulness. In the evening the choir rendered the grand chorus, "Jerusalem."

MUSIC RECITAL.

The large attendance at the musical recital given in the church Monday afternoon, spoke significantly of the interest and enthusiasm which Prof. and Mrs. Kantner have aroused this year in the work of this department. The program was heartily received and gave evidence of the work which had been done. Especial interest was taken in the children who are beginning their musical education. They were Paul Moore, Alta Gumm, Olive Johnson, Lyra Miles, Walter Butler and Vivian Hall.

Others appearing on the program were Misses Tessa Bixby and Ione Hutchens, in a piano duett and each in a piano solo, Miss Katharine Ronig and W. C. Woodward each in vocal solos, Owen Maris in a mandolin selection and Miss Anna Dudley in a piano solo.

No member of the college faculty has done more for his department this year than has Prof. Kantner. It is with profound regret on the part, not only of his students, but of the whole community whose interests he has so unselfishly served, that it is learned that he will not be here next year.

ANNUAL BALL GAME.

The athletic feature of Commencement week, the base-ball game between the collegians and alumni, was played on the college diamond before a good crowd of spectators on Monday afternoon. This was the third annual game and was by far the best yet played. The score ran up pretty well in the latter part of the game, but there were several scoreless innings and some really good ball was seen. The college boys, with three good twirlers in practice, kept the alumni guessing at the bat, while the latter had but one man to put in the box against the collegians. The final score was in favor of the latter, 15 to 7.

With an annual practice game the alumni seem to be improving a little each year with age and hope to strike a winning streak in the sweet bye and bye.

SENIOR CLASS DAY.

On Monday evening, the Class Day exercises occurred in the gymnasium. As usual a large crowd was present expecting to see and hear a medley of funny things. The programs which the class had distributed were very convenient to the audience and were a new thing for Class Day. Programs tied with the class colors were given to students. The entertainment consisted of those things common to the event, such as—the class history, will, prophecy, roasting of the Freshmen and Juniors, hits at members of the Faculty and a retelling of the college jokes of the year.

There was much good music of different kinds rendered by the class. "The Juniors' Ties," with a vivid description of them and the trouble they caused occupied quite a large portion of the program. The evening was very enjoyable to most all present. Some may have felt a little uncomfortable, but they will get over it soon. Everything went off nicely and was interesting to those present.

The class is to be complimented on it's splendid work along this line. W. R. M.

ACADEMIC GRADUATION.

The graduating exercises of the Academy class of 1905 were held Tuesday afternoon.

The class consisted of the following eleven members: Sadie P. Maxfield, Harry E. Walther, Leonard C. George, Eva L. Fletcher, James B. Maxfield, Effie M. Pressnall, Ola R. Mills, Russell W. Lewis, Laura E. Hammer, Helena H. Ferguson and Roy H. Mills. As time would not permit of all taking part in the program lots had been drawn to decide who should have the honor of representing the class. Six were chosen. Orations were required from each member of the graduating class, and those not fortunate enough to appear upon the program had previously delivered their productions before smaller audiences, in the privacy of the president's office. Each oration was good, showing careful thought and study. The Academy class of 1905 has acquitted itself very creditably in its first contact with the world, and promises to be heard from after it has gone on up through the four years of college, as the Class of 1909.

Following is the program:

Invocation.....	Rev. H. Gould
PIANO QUARTETTE
Calop.....	I. E. Milde
Mrs. Chas. Wilson, Miss Mabelle Gardner
Miss Jessie Britt, Miss Ora Buchanan
Oration.....	Alexander Hamilton
HARRY E. WALTHER
Oration.....	The Necessity of a Purpose in Life
HELENA H. FERGUSON

PIANO SOLO
Charge of the Hussars.....	Spindler
TESA BIXBY
Oration.....	Beauty's Appeal to Man
SADIE P. MAXFIELD
Oration.....	Originality
LEONARD C. GEORGE
Solo.....	Selected
C. W. KANTNER
Oration.....	Simplicity of Life
LAURA E. HAMMER
Oration.....	Russia
EFFIE M. PRESSNALL
Presentation of Diplomas
Valse-Duo.....	Durand
MISSSES BIXBY and HUTCHENS
Benediction.....	Pres. H. E. McGrew

Diplomas were also given to Anna Rogers and Harry Maxfield, who have been enrolled as Freshmen but were still back in a few credits.

A stirring address was delivered to the class by Pres. McGrew before the presentation of Diplomas. He took for his subject, "Life's Earlier Struggles."

PUBLIC MEETING OF THE ALUMNI

The annual public meeting of the Alumni was held in the Friends church Tuesday evening and a large number of the Alumni were present, they taking their places in the choir loft.

Walter Woodward, president for the past two years, called the meeting to order and informed the audience that an entirely new departure was to be made in the program for the evening.

The Alumni were to be students again. They were to imagine themselves back in school and the evening was simply to be a meeting of the old Crescent Literary Society.

This idea was carried out during the entire evening, the old yet ever young students, entering into the spirit of the thing with enthusiasm.

First came the roll call during which the names of all the students who have enrolled as members of the Crescent since 1896 were called. In the installation of officers, Hervy Hoskins and Olive Stratton, as president and secretary, respectively, were called to the table. No sooner had the president taken his seat than he was called upon for a speech. In the course of his remarks, he reviewed the history of the Alumni Association, what it stood for and some of its possibilities.

The excellent program given follows:

Owen Marls and D. D. Coulson.....	Mandolin Duet
Agnes Hammer.....	Paper, "The Small College"
Carrie Turner.....	Reading
Lucy Gause, W. C. Woodward.....	Vocal Duet
Ella Macy.....	Crescent Reminiscences
Sadie Cash.....	What Remains—extemporaneous speech.
Jessie Britt, Myrtle Wilson.....	Piano Duet
Curtis Parker.....	Recitation
Marvin Blair.....	Hyperbola
Prof. E. E. Washburn.....	In the Beginning
O. L. Price.....	Critic's Report
Mabel Edwards.....	Vocal Solo

Of the above list, Curtis Parker revived old memories by announcing himself as unprepared. He was let off with an impromptu speech, the subject given being, "Baseball—Why we didn't win." The explanation was entirely satisfactory.

Prof. Washburn was announced as the first graduate of Friends' Pacific Academy and was given an enthusiastic reception by the audience. His remarks were spicy and interesting.

COMMENCEMENT

The class of 1905, around which centered the interest of Commencement week, made its formal exit from college halls Wednesday morning in the presence of a large audience. The church had been prettily decorated by the Juniors, red roses being the leading feature of the decorations in harmony with the 1905 colors.

After the invocation by Rev. H. T. Cash, and excellent piano quartette by Mrs. C. B. Wilson and the Misses Gardner, Britt and Dorrance, was listened to.

Miss M. Eunice Lewis, the class orator, spoke persuasively upon, "Culture's Debt to Society," taking as her text the words, "For I am debtor both to Greek and Barbarian." "True culture lies, not in great minds but in great hearts," she said. "The debt which the successful owe to the less fortunate is not sufficiently recognized. We owe the debt of love which seeks to serve and minister. Selfishness means impoverishment. Lives are enriched by service and sacrifice. Be a great heart—the shadow of the rock in a weary land."

The address to the class was delivered by Dr. F. Burgette Short of Portland, who began by paying a tribute to the small denominational college, the conservator of the country's morals and Christian integrity. In his words, "It is better to get a small college through you than for you merely to go through a big university." Dr. Short pictured graphically the greatness of the present—a new era which is big with destiny and congratulated the graduates that it is their privilege to take up life work at such a time. His advice to them was this: "Work, work, work. Don't loaf. Be yourselves." It is impossible to give an adequate idea of Dr. Short's unique address. At times it bordered on a humorous lecture, when suddenly some great truth would be driven home with telling force. It was masterful.

The soloist of the morning was Mrs. W. Carlton Smith of Salem, whose artistic work was highly appreciated.

At the close of the program, President McGrew conferred upon M. Eunice Lewis, E. Worth Coulson, Chas. A. Morris and Orville H. Johnson the degree of B. S. and upon Florence Wilson the degree of A. B.

Before the close of the services, Pres. McGrew announced that hereafter there would be an annual prize of $25 given the Junior attaining the highest rank, to be known as the Florence Brown Rowe Memorial prize. The prize was given by Mr. Rowe, who was present, in memory of his wife, well remembered by many, who was compelled to give up her college work in her Junior year.

Following the successful exercises, the graduates were congratulated by friends and the great array of gifts and beautiful flowers were viewed with interest.

RECEPTION BY THE ALUMNI.

The final event of the week took place on the college campus under the oaks in front of Canyon Hall last night when the alumni gave a public reception in honor of the graduates. The affair marked a change from the time honored exclusive alumni banquet, and was much appreciated by the friends of the college who enjoyed mingling with the students and alumni and meeting the new members of the association. In the way of a program, R. W. Kirk toasted the class of 1905, Miss Lewis responding. Other speakers were Pres. McGrew, Mrs. Douglas, W. R. Miles and Prof. E. E. Washburn, W. C. Woodward presiding. Punch was served in an attractive booth by a bevy of alumni girls.

Following the reception, a business meeting of the association, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: treasurer, Miss Carrie Turner, D. D. Coulson, president; A. C. secretary.

The Florence Brown Rowe Memorial Prize

It is not an uncommon thing in many institutions for prizes to be offered in special lines of work. Sometimes these are given for the best work in some department and sometimes for work done in oratory or in essay prizes. In the struggling Western institution perhaps too little attention is given to such inducements to excel.

There is something of fairness in the offering of prizes for regular work in the college course which gives every student a chance to compete no matter what peculiar line of work to which he is partial.

A splendid thing was announced on commencement day for the members of the junior class of Pacific college.

A number of years ago Miss Florence Brown, who was attending the college, was compelled to give up her work as Junior and devote herself to the care of a sister. Afterward she was married to Mr. Newton V. Rowe, and has since gone to her eternal home and the reward of the faithful.

Mr. Rowe permitted the announcement to be made on commencement day that he proposed to offer a prize each year during his life time of $25 in gold to be given to the member of the Junior class making the highest general average during the year.

This is a handsome prize and is to be known as the Florence Brown Rowe Memorial Prize.

Pacific Wins from Catholics.

On the afternoon of the 27th most interesting meets ever held of May one of the closest and on the college field was pulled off between the Columbia University track team and our own boys in black. which is so often seen in meets of this nature.

Columbia's team is decidedly a one-man affair that man being Dan Kelley. His work is such as to easily place him among the first among the athletes of the state. Billy Pemberton was the largest point winner of the day for Pacific, winning 13 points. Other point winners are Hodson, Pearson, Haworth, Macy, R. Pemberton, Hoskins and Johnson.

The meet was pulled off with almost none of that "ragging" Those winning the official Jersey in this meet are Pearson, Haworth and Johnson.

Quakers vs. Methodists.

The last meet of the season for our team was held at Salem on afternoon of decoration day. The fact that he can run some, entering four events and winning handily in each of them.

Our boys were not in the best of condition having been in a meet only the Saturday before. Our team was handicapped by the lack of weight men, in which events Willamette excelled.

The track was very slow and the turns were extremely short. The meet was entirely free so the time made was not from foul work and the best of nearly so good as it should feeling prevailed. The Salem athletes won by a margin of have been. twenty points.

"Billy" again demonstrated

Athletic Records

In response to questions as to the college records on the athletic field we have made a review of the old records and following is a revised list of college records standing to-day so far as we can find out:

Event	Record	Holder
50 yd. dash	5 3-5 sec	Roy Heater
100 yd. dash	10 3-5	Roy Heater
		Wilfred Pemberton
220 yd. dash	23 sec	C. A. Redmond
		Roy Heater

440 yd dash	51 sec	C. A. Redmond
880 yd. run	2.03 2-5	Leon Kenworthy
One mile run	4-52	O. H. Johnson
120 hurdle	16 sec	Roy Heater
220 hurdle	26 sec	Roy Heater
Shot put	37 ft	M. J. Townsend
Pole vault	11 ft	Roy Heater
Broad jump	21 ft 6 in	Roy Heater
High jump	5f 6 in	Roy Heater

In case any of our readers know of any mistake in this list we should be glad to get the correct record and correct the list.

Annual Junior Banquet.

The second annual Junior banquet given to the Senior class was held at the home of Dr. Romig on the evening of June 2nd. The tables were tastefully decorated with roses and red carnations, the latter being the Senior class flower. The following menu was served:

First course—Fruit salad, Wafers en colors. After the good things had fulfilled their intended mission toasts were given as follows:

Second course—Ham sandwiches, pickles, olives, radishes, cocoa. "The Past" Ernest Bales '06. "The Present" Florence Wilson '05.

"The Jumping off Place" Mary Minthorn '06.

"The future" Orville Johnson '05.

Association Reception

The guests were received before the college building by the association presidents, Walter Miles and Myrtle Gause and given a hearty welcome. Music was a feature of the evening. Refreshments in the form of fruit punch and wafers were served. All report an enjoyable time.

Another school year has rolled away, and again the college bell is silent and the dust is gathering on the benches. As we look back we see some mistakes; some things have not turned out as we could have wished; there are regrets; we may not have accomplished as much as we would have liked. In contrast to these shadowy vales as it were, are the bright uplands, and sun-kissed peaks of achievements gained; of hard tasks mastered; of purposes accomplished. This is life and it has been lived. A few more pages are written and are sealed. Regrets are vain.

Let us think of what has been accomplished, but not entirely forget the mistakes. Remember them through the years yet to come that they may be avoided in the future. Let us strive to make each succeeding year more satisfactory than the last. Fortune has seemed to smile upon the Old Gold and Navy Blue through the past year. The dread badge of quarantine has not been seen upon the college campus, and the mills of knowledge have ground steadily on through the falling leaves of autumn, the dreary never-ceasing rains of winter, and the bright sunshine of spring. Twice has the faculty been broken into by sickness and other causes, but each time worthy men have been found ready to step into the gap. 1905 will go down upon the record as a successful and profitable year in the history of P. C.

The students and all connected with the college will feel very keenly the loss of Prof. C. W. Kantner, head of the music department, who goes to Europe in the fall for further study. He has done much for us this year, and his able, enthusiastic work is appreciated. He is not only a thorough musician and an efficient instructor, but a Christian gentleman and an all round college man who has co-operated most heartily in all student enterprises. His place will indeed be hard to fill.

Local and Personal.

Worth Coulson's parents of Scotts Mills came down to see Worth graduate.

Mrs. J. F. Hanson of Portland spent Wednesday of Commencement week in Newberg.

Mrs. Charles Johnson and Miss Mildred of Lents, spent Commencement in Newberg.

Mark Wolfe '01 and Clarence Daily '03 were chapel visitors during the past month.

Rev. Stanard of the Baptist church conducted chapel exercises May 19.

Lelia Littlefield was absent several days in May on account of sickness.

Irene Estock quit school May 10th and returned to her home in Dayton.

Miss Carrie Turner of class '04 came over from McMinnville for Commencement.

Roy Bates discontinued his school work May 18th and returned to his home at Rosedale.
 now in Oregon on a leave of absence, conducted chapel exercises May 16th.

With a little second thought most everyone says, "My it will be lonesome though when school's out."
 On the evening of June 5th coach Roy Heater gave an oyster supper to the members of this year's track team, thus making a very pleasant close of the season's work.

Mrs. Fraser, of Berkeley, California, is visiting her daughter Cora Dunham, during Commencement week.

Examinations are over and there is a general sigh of relief and those who passed without a C. are gloriously happy.
 There is the regulation confusion and turmoil of school-closing and home-going. In the words of our worthy Seniors, "Now ain't you glad we ain't goin' to school no more."

Lewis Saunders was absent from school during the latter part of May, caused by the sickness and death of his sister.
 Orville Johnson won second in the mile run at the Lewis & Clark handicap races June 10th. Orville was the scratch man at the start and the man who won, being less than a foot ahead, at the finish was given 45 yards the start of him.

The parents and sister of Harry Walther came down from The Dalles Monday evening and saw Harry receive his Academic diploma the following day.
 On the afternoon of the 8th the college exhibit for the Fair was placed on display on Pres. McGrew's lawn for the inspection of the students. All pronounced it excellent, and we feel sure that old P. C. will be well represented among the educational exhibits of the institutions of the Northwest.

Several Students drove to Salem May 30th to the field meet, so our boys were not without rooters. Most of them arrived home early the 31st.
